Mechthild's and Bertholdi's son. Joschuari's and Emmeran's brother. Always a long-distance runner and a complex, long-lived white wine from vineyards that are about 40 years old. Eduard Tscheppe-Eselböck: "As usual, Grüner Vetliner and Weissburgunder, comes across very likeable, relaxed and exuberant, a real flatterer. We have continued with 2018 and 2017 where we were already in 2016, the wines are no longer discriminated by colour, the vinification for white and red is the same, all wines are partially fermented on the skins, but largely pressed in the same way, so we combine structure, freshness, fruit and elegance and the barren limestone, gravel and slate soils so prominent in our region are expressed best." This wine is a great, variable food companion and shows what the adult generation at Gut Oggau can achieve.
